(XLVIIth YEAR.) THE (No. 2369.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, JUNE 7, 1792.

STOCKHOLM, March 20.

THE following account of the attempt to aſſaſſinate the king, in the night of the 16th of March, was read in the royal chancery and publiſhed by authority in the public papers of the eighteenth.

"Laſt Friday the 16th of March, at three quarters paſt eleven o'clock at night, a ſhort time after the king had entered the maſked ball in the royal opera-houſe, an unknown maſk forced his way through the crowd of maſks which ſurrounded the king, and fired a piſtol at him, the charge whereof entered a little above the left hip and touched the back bone.

"Although ſo ſeverely wounded, the king had yet ſtrength enough to walk to the next cloſet, where he reclined on a ſopha, and converſed with ſome of the gentlemen of the court, as well as ſome of the principal officers of ſtate, who had obtained leave to follow him, with the greateſt cheerfulneſs until the ſurgeons arrived, when the wound was examined and the firſt dreſſing laid on.—His majeſty was then carried to the palace, and at 4 o'clock in the morning he was bled.

"Immediately after the ſhot was fired there were found in the opera-room two piſtols, one of which the aſſaſſin had made uſe of; but the other was yet loaded with two buck-ſhot, a quantity of ſmall ſhot and ſome points of cut nails.

"The aſſaſſin, a diſcharged captain, John Jacob Anerſtrom, was diſcovered the next day, the 17th of March about 10 o'clock in the forenoon and arreſted. He confeſſed his crime, and acknowledged that the piſtol he fired had been loaded with two bullets, the one round, the other beat ſquare, beſides with twelve grain of ſhot and ſeven ſmall nail points; that the other piſtol had been loaded nearly in the ſame manner; and that he held beſides a kniſe in the other hand, which he had bought but a week before, and had cauſed it to be ground with an edge on each ſide.

"Though the wound has not been fully cleared yet of the many parts of the charge, the ſurgeons nevertheleſs have been able to aſſure the diſtreſſed royal family, as well as the aſtoniſhed inhabitants of the capital, that the ſhot did not touch thoſe parts whoſe violation might have produced more dangerous conſequences for the life of the king.

"His majeſty is as well as his circumſtances will permit, and has enjoyed now and then ſome reſt in his ſleep.

"His majeſty not only ſuſtained the examination of the wound, and other pains with that perfect ſerenity and ſtrength of mind, which have diſtinguiſhed ſo many accidents of the life of the king, but he likewiſe received the royal family, numbers of the court, officers of ſtate, and foreign miniſters at his bed-ſide. His majeſty in the ſame manner himſelf regulated the royal regency, dictated their inſtructions, and ſigned both inſtruments with his own hand.

"The examinations reſpecting this horrid deed, and all that has any connection therewith, continue in the forenoon and afternoon before the royal court of chancery, and the public will receive in this manner all poſſible elucidation reſpecting an event, which nearly concerns every faithful ſubject, and which, under this important moment, never had been heard of in the kingdom of Sweden."

LONDON, April 3.

This morning, about one o'clock, a lieutenant of the Thames frigate, captain Truebridge, brought intelligence to the admiralty and India houſe, that that veſſel had arrived at Portſmouth about one o'clock yeſterday forenoon, with diſpatches from commodore Cornwallis.

She left Tellicherry on the 28th of December, and the Cape of Good Hope on the 2d of February.—She did not touch at St. Helena.

The intelligence brought by this veſſel is as ſingular as unexpected, and may eventually be productive of very diſagreeable conſequences between this country and France.

She brings an account of the Phœnix frigate, captain Sir Richard Strachan, having taken, on the 19th November laſt, after a well fought action, the Reſolue, French frigate of 32 guns, and is come home for the inſtructions of government in this unexpected and extraordinary buſineſs.

The following account we have been favoured with from a gentleman of rank in the Thames frigate, which may be depended on is ſtrictly authentic:

"In Auguſt the commodore lying in Trincomalee, diſpatched his majeſty's ſhips Thames and Veſtal to the Malabar coaſt, and going ſhortly after to Madras, but the Minerva alſo, having received intelligence that ſome neutral ſhips, under Imperial and French colours, loaded with ammunition and ordnance ſtores from France, were to arrive there for the uſe of the Sultan's army.

"Orders were given to the ſeparate commanders ſtrictly to examine all veſſels they might fall in with. He followed himſelf with the Crown and Phœnix ſhortly after. Hitherto no ſhips that were deſcribed to him had been ſeen.

"On the 23d of October, at ſix in the evening, the commodore being on a cruize to the northward, and the Phœnix and Atalanta in Tellicherry Roads, two French ſhips and a brig were diſcovered in the Offing. It being the Atalanta's guard, ſhe got under way to board them, and was followed by the Phœnix; but having little wind, they got into the Mallee Roads, a French port, and cloſe to Tellicherry.

"Captain Foot, of the Atalanta, ſent a boat with an officer to them, but they refuſed to be examined, alleging, they were in their own port. Immediately on the boats return, hearing of their reſiſtance, he ſent an officer of marines, with a party, with orders to force the hatchways, and examine them; which being effected, they were found laden with merchandiſe only. This irregular proceeding was, however, huſhed up by the commodore's arrival and interpoſition, in captain Foot's behalf, with the governor.

"Early in November, the Reſolue French frigate, of 32 guns, arrived in Mallee Roads, and ſailed on the 19th with two merchantmen, at two A. M. from the ſame port, which it is conjectured was a ſcheme to diſcover whether commodore Cornwallis would board the merchantmen under his protection, an unlucky experiment in the event; for at five A. M. on ſeeing them in the Offing, he made ſignals to the Phœnix and Perſeverance to board them; they got under way, and chaſed to the northward, as far as Mangalore, before they came up with them.

"When the Phœnix came within hail, ſhe was aſked what ſhe wanted? Sir Richard Strachan anſwered, that he had orders to board the merchantmen in company with her, and would ſend an officer on board of him to explain the reaſon.

"The firſt lieutenant, George Parker, went on board; the French frigate then made a ſignal, which the merchantmen anſwered, and made ſail; the Phœnix making ſail alſo, to intercept them, leaving the cutter with Mr. Parker ſome diſtance a-ſtern, and firing at the ſhips on the larboard bow and beam, to bring them too.—The French frigate being on the ſtarboard quarter of the Phœnix, fired two guns ſhotted to windward, which was thought to be at the boats: the Phœnix next hoiſted out her jolly boat, and ſent the third lieutenant, Mr. Burt, to board one of them, the Perſeverance at the ſame time boarding the other.

"At this time the Phœnix, in backing a-ſtern, to keep one of the merchantmen from making off, had her enſign ſtaff carried away by her jibb-boom. The French frigate kept firing at the boats, and upon the Phœnix wearing to keep cloſe to her, ſhe fired a broadſide into her and commenced the action.

"The engagement laſted twenty-five minutes, and terminated by a happy manœuvre of Sir Richard Strachan, who, on obſerving the Reſolue croſſing her hauſes, luffed up, went under her ſtern, and raked her with conſiderable damage.

"The Reſolue had 25 men killed and 40 wounded, ſeveral of whom are ſince dead, and the firſt captain dangerouſly wounded.

"The Phœnix had ſix men killed and eleven wounded, among whom is lieutenant Finley, of the marines, ſince dead, and Mr. Wilmot, midſhipman, wounded.

"By the commodore's orders the French frigate was conducted into Mallee Roads and left there, her own officers and ſeamen refuſing to do any thing with her, ſaying the Reſolue ſtruck, and was a prize to the Phœnix, and the commodore might diſpoſe of her as he might think proper. The commodore anſwered them, that he muſt refer the determination of the affair to this nation, being of too much importance for him to ſettle.

"Tippoo Sultan was come out of Seringapatam, and had entrenched himſelf ſtrongly about ten miles from it—Lord Cornwallis and the grand army were advancing towards him, and it is probable their meeting has been deciſive; his lordſhip being determined on an immediate attack, and his army in the higheſt ſpirits.

"Yeſterday ſome diſpatches were received at the ſecretary of ſtate's office, from Mr. Walpole, his majeſty's envoy, at the court of Liſbon; they are dated the 24th of February, and contain an account that the queen of Portugal was much better, and that doctor Willis gave every hopes of her ſpeedy recovery.

"The Belmont Indiaman is taken up for the expreſs purpoſe of bringing home ſugars from the Eaſt. She is to ſail early in May for Calcutta;—and, what will appear very extraordinary, notwithſtanding the aſſertions of the monopoliſts of this great town, that ſugar is not to be procured in quantity in the Eaſt-Indies, it is well known that this ſhip is expected by the director to be ready to return, completely laden with that article, ſix weeks after her arrival; ſo that her return is expected early next ſpring.

"The breach between the colony of the Cape of Good-Hope and the mother country, is become, we fear, too wide ever to be united. The recal of Mr. Vangrave, the popular governor at the Cape, occaſioned much diſcontent, and the departure of the greater part of the garriſon to protect their Aſiatic poſſeſſions, afforded more ample room for thoſe who before had been ſowing the ſeeds of diſſenſion. The determination of the ſtates to ſend commiſſioners, empowered to examine and puniſh the inſtigators of the diſturbances, being known at the Cape, thoſe moſt guilty redoubled their activity, and the burghers at length unanimouſly agreed, that ſhould the commiſſioners aſſume any arbitrary power to repel force by force, they alſo determined, that all taxes impoſed by the mother country ſhould be left to their own diſcretion for every pecuniary aid they may in future think proper to grant.

"Col. Gordon, the vice-governor, has been obliged to retire to the caſtle, where he is putting it in a ſtate of defence.

It having been humbly repreſented to the king, that on or about the 7th day of February laſt an anonymous threatening letter, of which the following is a copy, was received from the poſt-office in Manchester, in the county of Manchester, by Meſſrs. Robert and John Grimſhaw, of Manchester aforeſaid:

"SIRS,

"We have ſworn together to deſtroy your factory if we dye for it and to have your lives for ruining our trade & if you go on you know the certainty which comes unknown to my companions."

That on the night of Thurſday the 15th day of March, inſtant, the weaving factory of the ſaid Robert and John Grimſhaw, ſituated at Knot mill, in Manchester aforeſaid, was deſtroyed by fire, and that there is reaſon to ſuſpect that the ſaid premiſes were wilfully and maliciouſly ſet on fire by ſome perſon or perſons unknown.

His majeſty's moſt gracious pardon, and a reward of two hundred guineas, are promiſed for diſcovering the offenders.

It having been humbly repreſented to the king, that on Saturday morning the 17th of March, inſtant, an anonymous threatening letter, of which the following is a copy, was received from the Manchester poſt-office by Francis Haywood, of Manchester, in the county of Manchester, cotton merchant.

"Manchester, March 17th, 1792.

"SIR,

"You are Anopoliſer you have a deal of warehouſes full of cotton if you dont leſſen the prices very much in next week they ſhall all them be in flames depend on it ſince we have begun our deſign we intend to carry it on and have leſs proud Devils in the town that impoveriſh us ſo ill by keeping up the prices of cotton wool you life ſhall go alſo depend upon it, with 4 others we intend—A Weaver. P. S. If we are hanged for you we will be better off than as we are.

(Superſcribed)

"Mr. Francis Haywood,
"Cotton Merchant,
"Deanegate,
"Manchester."

His majeſty's moſt gracious pardon, and a reward of five hundred pounds, are promiſed for diſcovering the offenders.

STATE PAPER.

CONVENTION ſigned at Vienna the 18th of February, between his excellency the count Coloredo, commiſſioned for the purpoſe by his Imperial majeſty, and the baron de Biſchoffswerder, miniſter plenipotentiary of his majeſty the king of Pruſſia.

1. IT is agreed that there ſhall ſubſiſt between his majeſty the emperor, and his majeſty the king of Pruſſia, a firm and laſting concert, as well in behalf of themſelves as of their reſpective allies, for the purpoſe of taking ſuitable meaſures at all times, when occaſion may require, to ſupport the honour and dignity of crowns, againſt any attempts made by wicked perſons in rebellion, whether they be their own ſubjects or thoſe of their friends or allies, or of any prince or potentate whatever, in whoſe perſon the ſovereign dignity may be expoſed to inſult.

2. The two high contracting parties guarantee to each other in their reſpective eſtates, as well as to their different allies, the poſſeſſion of all the rights, prerogatives and powers, which they enjoy in the ſaid eſtates, or which, by ancient laws and uſages, are found to belong thereto, againſt any change or innovation whatſoever.

3. Their ſaid majeſties promiſe for themſelves and their allies, not to take part in any rebellion or revolt which may break out in any neighbouring ſtates, but on the contrary to uſe their utmoſt endeavours to ſuppreſs it, for which purpoſe they will not receive any ſubject of other ſtates into their territories without the knowledge and approbation of the ſovereign of thoſe ſtates; they will apprehend and deliver them up when required, and prevent, as much as in them lies, arms and ammunition from being exported out of their dominions, or from being ſold in them to ſtrangers.

4. The two high contracting parties agree to uſe their utmoſt endeavours to reſtore to the crown of France the ancient rights and prerogatives which juſtly belong thereto, and for this purpose they will employ, as soon as the season will permit, the following force: His Imperial majesty and his allies engage to bring into the field 120,000 effective men, and his Prussian majesty and his allies engage to furnish 60,000 effective men, their contingents in the army of the empire not included. These troops to act as hereafter shall be agreed upon between the parties, and to be paid by their respective sovereigns, his Imperial majesty reserving to himself the liberty of concerting with his allies concerning the different quota to be furnished by each, as well as his Prussian majesty to concert with his for the same purpose. If, contrary to all reasonable expectation, this force should prove insufficient, their Imperial and Prussian majesties will further agree together on such augmentation of troops as may be thought necessary.

5. A congress shall be established, to which their Imperial and Prussian majesties, as well as their respective allies, will send ministers for the purpose of inquiring into the nature and extent of those prerogatives belonging by ancient right to the crown of France, and which it is found necessary to restore, for the sake of re-establishing the dignity of that crown. If any information should be communicated to the congress by which the high contracting parties, or any of their allies, shall appear to have suffered injury or intrenchment, with respect to their just authority in the domains in the present possession, the discussion of the congress shall be held final and conclusive by all parties, and they will use the same force mentioned in the preceding article, or a lesser or greater one as occasion may require, but always in the same proportion, for the purpose of restoring to the injured party (if milder measures fail) his due authority, as well for maintaining, in all cases whatever, the sovereign dignity from violation, insult and encroachment.

WATERFORD, March 22.

A desperate and unhappy affray took place last week, near Sligo, between a party of the police and a number of country people, upwards of one hundred in number, in which four men and one woman were killed on the spot, and twelve wounded in so dangerous a manner that six of them died soon after, and the recovery of the others is extremely doubtful.

This unfortunate occurrence had its origin from a hearth-money collector having distrained some property belonging to a few of the peasants, in which he was resisted by the multitude, who seemed determined that his life should attone for the act:—this was averted by the timely interposition of the police. Four of the country people have been apprehended and committed for trial.

WINDHAM, (Connecticut) May 5.

On Tuesday last, a very melancholy accident occurred in Goshen, at the Pot-ash works owned by Mr. Stanley of that town. The building had, by accidental means, taken fire on the roof; a Mr. Voris, who was employed in the Pot ash, ascended to extinguish it; but while in the execution of his design, one of the rafters, which supported him, being much burnt, gave way, and he, being directly over one of the kettles, was immersed in the boiling element which was contained in it; he was extricated as soon as possible, but was so scalded, as to survive only a few hours. A number of people having collected, the fire was soon extinguished in the building.

NEW-LONDON, May 24.

Saturday last arrived here from Cape-François, brig Brothers, captain Hallam, who informs in general, that the Cape remains in a state of perfect confusion—that the outer batteries of the town are attacked every night by the negroes—and that a surprising stupor pervades all ranks of people.

Extract of a letter from a French settler at Gallipolis, to his friend in Philadelphia, dated March 27, 1792.

"On the 10th instant, two Frenchmen at work about a mile from the town were attacked by five Indians, who fired several muskets, took one prisoner, and pursued the other within the first house of the town. This has given a shock to the infant colony, from which it will hardly recover. Some of the inhabitants are already gone, many more are preparing to leave that place. We have to encounter hardships, disappointments and deceptions of every kind."

ALBANY, May 21.

Extract of a letter from a mercantile house in Schenectady, to the printers of the Albany Gazette, dated the 16th instant.

"The Farnely and Birmingham canal, which has proved so advantageous to that seat of industry and arts, on which was expended upwards of 100,000l. sterling, a few years ago, is now so improved in value, that a share which cost 140l. was lately sold for 1080l. —Last week 51,000l. was subscribed by gentlemen in the iron trade, for a new canal from N. Port to Pontnevinidd."

A gentleman from New-England informs us, that a ship has lately arrived at Boston, from the East-Indies, with 700 tuns of sugar, the whole of which immense quantity, is put up in bags in the nicest manner, each bag being formed of three species of linen —the first or inner one is equal in fineness to common muslin, the second to common white holland, and the third one or the outer one, to ticklenburg. The quality of this sugar is far superior to the best Muscovado, and was purchased in the East-Indies, at about three pence this currency per lb.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.

Saturday last arrived from Cape François the brig Fair Hebe, captain Feinour, in which vessel several ladies and gentlemen came passengers, among whom is the honourable Mr. de la Route one of the judges of the island of Hispaniola.

Extract of a letter from a house of reputation at Cape-François, to their friends in this city.

"This island is more and more approaching towards its total destruction, and in a very short time, if some considerable forces do not arrive from France, no kind of produce will be procured here."

CHARLESTON, May 17.

By several gentlemen who arrived here on Saturday last, from Rock-Landing, we are informed, that the utmost harmony subsists between the Creeks and the federal troops stationed at that place; and that Mr. Seagrove received a letter from general M'Gillivray, on the day of their departure, stating, that he had been prevented from attending at the Rock-Landing, as early as was intended, by the high freshes in the Oakmulgee, but that he would be there in a few days, with 1500 Creeks, in order to carry into full effect the treaty with the United States.

LEXINGTON, [Kentucky] February 25.

On the 11th instant the Indians killed two men near Fort Jefferson, on the N. W. side of the Ohio.

On the 15th they killed a man at the iron works on Slate creek.

We are informed, that major Estil and another gentleman from Danville, fell in with six Indians, a few days ago, and fired on them, killed two—the other four ran off.

March 3. We have heard this morning that the Indians killed a man and a woman on North Elkhorn, on Thursday evening last, near Grant's mill.

We are informed, that about fifty Indians fired on a boat last week, on the Ohio, below the mouth of Kentucky river, without doing any damage.

March 10. On Monday evening last the Indians stole ten or twelve horses from near Grant's mill, on North Elkhorn, and on Tuesday night burnt two dwelling houses, together with all the household furniture belonging to the proprietors, they having left their houses late in the evening.

WINCHESTER, May 21.

About the first of this month a party of Indians killed a man and his wife on Elk river, in the county of Harrison. There were only four families settled at this place, all the rest precipitately moved off, and arrived safe in a neighbouring settlement. Our informant had these particulars from a young man who helped to bury the man and woman above-mentioned.

Inspection House for Tobacco.

THIS is to give public notice, that the inspection house for tobacco, at Beard's Point, on South river, in Anne-Arundel county, is now in readiness to receive tobacco for inspection; and, from the large quantity of that article made in the neighbourhood of South river aforesaid, it is expected that a considerable number of hogsheads will be brought to this house during the present summer for inspection, and, from its superior quality, it is presumed all persons wishing to become purchasers of tobacco may be well accommodated, and that upon good terms.

It is thought unnecessary to expatiate on the many advantages of this warehouse, as it is so well known to be situated on a beautiful and navigable river, and not more than ten miles distant from the bay; it is also a well known fact, that the tobacco raised in that part of Anne-Arundel county is precisely the same in quality as the tobacco heretofore inspected at Taylor's Landing on Patuxent, which has always been found to suit the European markets as well, if not better, than tobacco of the growth of any other part of Maryland.

HYDER ALLY,

NOW the property of the subscriber, is in high perfection, and stands this season at the seat of RICHARD CHEW, Esquire, to cover mares at two guineas each, payable the first day of September next, when it is expected the strictest punctuality will be observed.

HYDER ALLY is a beautiful gray, elegantly dappled, full fifteen hands three inches high, bony, lengthy, strong, and active, his strong resemblance to his sire, whose stock stands in high estimation both for the turf and saddle, will, it is presumed, entitle him to a preference, and his pedigree following will prove his blood equal to that of any horse in America.

He was got by the noted Arabian, his dam by Othello, his grand-dam (an imported mare from the duke of Hamilton's stud) by Spot, his great-grand-dam by Cartouch, his great-great-grand-dam by Old Traveller, his great-great-great-grand-dam by Sedbury, his great-great-great-great-grand-dam by Childers, out of a Barb mare.

Excellent pastures are provided for mares coming from afar at 2/6 per week, and every possible care taken of them, but accidents and escapes must be at the risk of their owners.
